BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, March 20th, 1872.

MR. BUCKALEW, the paragon of Democratic fairness, (!) is as busy as a stumptail cow in fly time, in the Senatorial contested election case. But a year ago when the people petitioned for an investigation where a Democrat had a Senatorial seat, Mr. B. voted a stentorian NO. This simple fact is enough to knock all the props from under Mr. Buckalew's high sounding pretentions.

FOOLS AND KNAVES NOT ALL DEAD.

In proof of this, in the last Watchman we see, what purports to be a communication, suspended under the word "Tariff," and signed, "A Grant Republican," p ping questions at the Publisher of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN." This is cute. "A Grant Republican," writing communications for the Watchman on the subject of the Tariff!! Why, surely the pedantic pedegogue exhibits himself in his true colors—more fool than knave, and should know that the Buzzard cannot play the comedian either in morals or politics, and that there is no terror in his bitch. Bah!

THE ERIE RING BROKEN—JUSTICE WILL OVERTAKE THE EVIL DOER.

Last week the business men of both America and Europe were rejoiced to hear the welcome news, that the Erie Ring, so long manipulated by Jay Gould and Fisk had been broken up. For months and years the stockholders of the Erie Railway Company had sought their rights through legal process; but were continually frustrated in all their designs by these two cormorants Gould and Fisk. Fisk fell by the hand of the assassin, and thus left Gould and his satelites, to accomplish the completion of a scheme of robbery unparalleled in the history of Railroads. Jay Gould was not competent to the task. The result proves that Fisk was not only the strong right arm, but the brains of the ring. There has long been a determination on the part of the stockholders to cast off these robbers; but their efforts all proved abortive until the brave Gen. Sickels undertook their case. Gen. Sickels has been working this thing out for months. He worked cautiously, clandestinely until he finally prevailed upon Gould to call a meeting of the management on Monday, the 11th inst., the object being to fill two vacancies and for consultation. Gen. Sickels having his plans well matured, availed himself of this opportunity to strike the blow. He did strike, and the result fell upon Gould and his ring like li, htning from a cloudless Sky. They were amazed, overwhelmed, with astonishment when they learned that their power was gone and that their days for villainous robberies had passed away, forever. In a moment all their plans were frustrated and their guilty consciences brought vividly before their eyes, prisons dark and loathsome, grates and bars and dungeons. Surely the history of Tammany and of the Erie ring fully establishes the Bible truth, that the way of the transgressor is hard, and that a man's sins will find him out.

The following dispatch gives the result of the election of officers:

NEW YORK, March 11.—The directors of the Erie Railway Company held a meeting at the Erie Railway Office at Eighth avenue and Twenty-third street, this afternoon, to fill two vacancies in in the board of directors. One after another of the directors resigned, and their places were rapidly filled amidst considerable excitement and confusion.

Jay Gould was removed from the presidency, and General J. A. Dix was elected in his place. The following are the newly elected officers and directors of the road:

President—Gen. J. A. Dix.

Vice President—O. H. P. Archer.

Treasurer—W. Sherman.

Assistant Treasurer—J. D. White.

Superintendent—George B. McClellan.

Directors—General Dix, O. H. P. Archer, G. C. Hall, Mr. Drake of Corning, W. W. Sherman, George Stebbins, W. B. Travis, John Q. B. Gunson, S. L. M. Barrow, Chas. Day, George B. McClellan, General Diven, Dr. Eldridge, Jay Gould, Homer Ramsdell and Dr. Lansing.

The New Hampshire Election!

A GLORIOUS VICTORY!

A STRAW THAT SHOWS WHICH WAY THE WIND BLOWS.

A decisive Republican victory was that achieved by the noble and loyal sons of the Granite State—New Hampshire—on the 12th inst. The Democracy—the disloyal element there, as here and elsewhere, were routed horse, foot and dragoon. Last year the State was carried by the Democracy. They elected their Governor and obtained a working majority in the Legislature. This year the tables were turned and the old Granite State wheels into line and proclaims in thunder tones, for the re-nomination and certain re-election of Gen. Grant.

The Republican candidate for Governor, Hon. Mr. Straw, carried the State by over 1,600 majority, while the Legislature is Republican by over sixty majority, thus securing the election of a Republican United States Senator. The Labor Reform and Temperance parties, working in the interest of the Democratic party, had each their candidates; but the result has proven that the people are too intelligent to be caught, by such flimsy tricks. Consequently both these parties have been injured, as the falling off in the strength of both, abundantly proves. Is it any wonder? Think of it for a moment! Temperance men and Labor Reformers co-operating with the Democratic party!! Why the very idea is preposterous—Democracy means free trade. To this the party is pledged. How can labor reformers if they are in earnest, if they are honest, if they have five grains of common sense, or if they love their families, vote with the Democratic party? That party which did all in its power to destroy the Government and the Union, during the Rebellion, and which now stands pledged to the lords and capitalists of England, to vote for free trade in order that England may prosper and flourish by selling her iron and other manufacturies in this country to the breaking down, and the total destruction of American labor, American enterprise and consequently of American independence and American liberty.—Workingmen are not so easily caught as some people may imagine. They know who their friends are. They know by sad experience the result of free trade in this country in 1857. Hence the glorious victory in New Hampshire.

The Republican party, pure, loyal, patriotic and full of energy is stronger to-day, than it ever was before. Of this fact the result in New Hampshire must convince the veriest doubter, or the most timid member of our organization. The people have faith in the party that saved the nation. They have faith in the brave General who marshalled the hosts of freedom and led them on until he had captured Gen. Lee and his rebel hordes, and gained a victory for civil and religious liberty, that made his name immortal in every civilized nation under the heavens. They have faith in President Grant who has so faithfully and honestly served them from the day of his inauguration to the present. They have watched him closely. They have, intelligently, scaned his every action. They are convinced that the brave and faithful General, has made an honest, economical President and in proof of this they exultingly point you to the reduction of the national debt, each month, to the amount of thirteen millions of dollars.

These were the arguments used in New Hampshire on the 12th inst., and which found a lodgment in every honest heart. The same causes will give Pennsylvania, and every other loyal state, to Gen. Grant by triumphant majorities in November next. The sore heads, liberal Republicans and Revenue Reformers may all unite with the new Departure, passive, possum and copper head Democrats, and throw in the entire negur hating element of the country, nevertheless Gen. Grant supported by the intelligent, loyal and honest workingmen of the nation will walk over the course as calmly and as full of honest, manly dignity, as when he telegraphed President Lincoln, that it was his wish that Lee and his conquered legions should be spared the pain and humiliation of witnessing the triumphal March of the "Boys in Blue" into the rebel capitol—the city of Richmond. The man who possesses the magnanimity and goodness of heart to spare the feelings of an enemy, is certainly, not the man to desert his friends, misuse the power bestowed upon him, or betray the Government which he has done so much to save.

The Pittsburg Times in speaking of the result in New Hampshire says: "The lesson of the election just over is that the people trust the President. The issues debated during the canvass were national. Local questions have little to do with the result. Personal qualities were absolutely of no value,—it was a battle of principles, and as such, the existing administration has been fully and earnestly endorsed. As a result the Philadelphia convention will, of course nomina e President Grant for a second term,—and equally of course, he will be triumphantly elected. We doubt if the Cincinnati Convention succeeds in making a combination against him that will stand for a moment. Either the candidates will be unpopular, or the principles involved will not be agreeable to all parties interested. But even if the two elements,—dissatisfied Republicans and Democrats rush, they will only be together what the Democracy in New Hampshire was. It was sustained by the dissatisfied, and both were severely beaten."

GET OUT THE WAY.—The Grant train is comeing. Let those who do not wish a first class seat on said train get off the track, otherwise they may be run over. The passage, is a free one. Tickets are good for a through trip. The Engineer took in wood and water at New Hampshire Station. He will test the wheels and take in more passangers in a few days in Connecticut. All aboar!. The weather is lovely. No br ken rails. No obstructions on the track.

A few weeks ago, to change the figure, there were two or three clouds in the political horizen. The custom House Committee; the Sale of Arms Committee; and the recommendation to office Committee Resolutions. All these opened wide the gate and rapidly developed a personal opposition to the re-nomination of Gen. Grant, which was to many, no doubt, surprising. These storm clouds, however, have spent their whole force, and not a giant Oak, has been torn from its roots, nor a single sapling twisted out of shape. New Hampshire has spoken, and the great heart of the people still beats responsively to the representative of the loyal cause. In fact we are yet too near the rebellion to forget the services and sacrifices of the men who suppressed it. The people will not trust rebels or disloyal men. For this reason the clouds have disappeared, and on the retiring brow of darkness, the signet bow of hope is set in letters of living light, so plain that he who runs may read, the triumphant re-election of Gen. Grant in 1872.

"O for the swords of former time,
O for the men who bore them,
When arm'd for right, they stood sublime
And tyrants crouch'd b fore them!"

LOCAL OPTION LAWS.

Local option laws are becoming common in all the States, not merely for the regulation of the liquor traffic, but for the direction and management of many affairs in committees heretofore controlled by specific law. A cotemporary, discussing this subject, and taking for its theme this species of legislation as it applies to the sale of liquor, clearly shows that the decisions of the courts are against its constitutionality. Our readers will bear us out in the claim of being among those who regard with horror and alarm the fearful increase of drinking liquor as a vice and a luxury, and we are prepared to support, with all the energy we possess, any movement which is calculated to effectually arrest this monstrous evil. But we do not believe that men can be legislated into morality, nor that intemperance is to be prevented by statutory provisions. Individual tastes and personal appetites have never yet been controlled by legislation, and they never can be while human nature remains what it is. Nor do we believe that the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage can be stopped by any Local Option process. Five hundred and one voters in a community of one thousand persons entitled to vote cannot, by decreeing "no license" at the polls, compel the four hundred and ninety-nine remaining to abstain from strong drink if they have an appetite therefor.

The Legislature cannot delegate its authority to make laws to the people in primary assemblies. This has been decided over and over again in the courts. In New York the highest court held a public school law, passed by the Legislature, and to become operative when ratified by the people, to be unconstitutional on the distinct ground that the Legislature was the only law-making power, and could not share its authority with any other authority whatever. In Delaware and Pennsylvania, the same view has been uniformly held. In 1846 the Legislature of the latter State passed a law providing for submitting the question of license to the people of certain counties, and enacting that in all boroughs and wards in which a majority of the votes should be against license, it should not be lawful to sell vinous or spiritous liquors. The law was resisted, and the case being carried to the Supreme Court, the following decision was rendered:

Under the Constitution of Pennsylvania, legislative power must be exercised by the Legislature created by this Constitution. Hence, the act of 1846, giving the citizens of certain counties the power to decide by a vote whether the sale of vinous and spiritous liquors shall be continued within such counties, and imposing a penalty for the sale of such liquors, where a majority of the votes had been against such sale, is unconstitutional and void.

In another case, Justice Bell, of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, gave a very elaborate and exhaustive opinion on the whole question of the competency of the Legislature to delegate its power to the people, in the course of which he said:

"Among the primal axioms of jurisprudence, political and municipal, is to be found in the principle that an agent, unless expressly empowered, cannot transfer his delegated authority to another, more especially when it rests in a confidence, partaking the nature of a trust, and requiring for its due discharge, understanding knowledge and rectitude. The maxim is delegata potestas non potest delegari. And what shall be said to be a higher trust, based upon a broader confidence than the possession of the legislative function? What task can be imposed on a man, as a member of society, requiring a deeper knowledge and a purer honesty? It is a duty which cannot, therefore be transferred by the representative; no, not even to the people themselves, for they have forbidden it by the solemn expression of their will that the legislative power shall be vested in the General Assembly; much less can it be relinquished to a portion of the people, who cannot even claim to be the exclusive depositories of that part of the sovereignty retained by the community."

—From the above, our temperance friends will see clearly the difficulty before them in enforcing a local option law. As a matter of right, the liquor interest will oppose its enforcement, and carry their efforts against it to the highest courts. So far as we are concerned—and we do not yield our regard for and interest in temperance to any man—we would rather see the cause advanced by other means and powers—by the influence of moral suasion, and more of the means made use of to spread the truths of Christ's religion. The upholding of temperance with a policeman's baton is akin to disseminating religion with a scimetar.

—Since the above was in type we see the Attorney General of New Jersey has delivered an elaborate opinion, declaring the local option law of that State unconstitutional.

IMPORTANT R. R. MEETING.

At a large meeting of the citizens of Kanawha and other counties lying along the route of the Northern and Southern West Virginia Railroad, Colonel Benjamin Smith presiding, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, the Directors of the Northern and Southern West Virginia Railroad Company, residing in this State, having received from capitalists connected with the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, and others, assurances which justify the belief that if the counties on the line of said Northern and Southern road shall, by individual and county aid, subscribe one million dollars in land, money and county bonds for the construction of said road, the balance of the stock necessary to complete the work can be obtained from persons abroad:

Be it therefore resolved by this meeting composed of citizens of the county of Kanawha and members of the Constitutional Convention, and also members of each branch of the Legislature of West Virginia, and of other citizens of each of the counties of Monongalia, Marion, Harrison, Lewis, Braxton, Roane and Clay, that we earnestly request the people of each of those counties to take the necessary measures to submit to the voters of their respective counties the propriety of subscribing for the capital stock of said Northern and Southern Railroad Company the sums of money respectively annexed to the counties aforesaid, that is to say:

County of Monongalia	$175,000
" Marion	150,000
" Harrison	200,000
" Lewis	125,000
" Braxton	55,000
" Roane	25,000
" Clay	20,000
" Kanawha	250,000

And for the purpose of inaugurating the measures proposed by the foregoing resolution, be it therefore.

Resolved by the citizens of Kanawha county here assembled, that J. P. Hale, J. H. Brown, J Bristin Walker and W. A. Quarrier be, and they are hereby appointed as a central executive committee for the county of Kanawha, to whom is committed the following duties:

1st. To apply to the Board of Supervisors of the county of Kanawha to make an order directing an election to be held by the proper officers of the county, to ascertain the sense of the voters upon the subject of making the subscription herein above apportioned to the county of Kanawha, or so much thereof as may not be subscribed by individuals or companies; and that your committee do prescribe the terms, limitations and conditions upon which said county subscriptions shall be made.

2d. That said Central Committee, shall nominate to the chief agents of said Railroad, residing in this State and who are authorized to obtain subscriptions to said road, a proper number of suitable persons as sub-agents for the county and townships thereof, to solicit and obtain the subscriptions of individuals and companies, in land or money to said road.

3d That said Central Committee, shall appoint speakers for the county of Kanawha and each township thereof, to advocate the proposed subscription to the road by the county, and most earnestly press upon the consideration of the voters the benefits of the road to the county of Kanawha.

4th. That the said Central Committee, shall have charge, in the county of Kanawha, of all subjects pertaining to the subscription of stock to said road, and all correspondence growing out of the same.

And this meeting composed as before stated, do most cordially unite in a respectful recommendation to each of the other counties above named, to adopt the measures hereinbefore stated and adopted by the county of Kanawha, or such other proceeding which they may think most expedient to secure a subscription to the road, of their respective proportions, above indicated.

Much enthusiasm was displayed by the meeting in regard to what is considered the most important railroad ever contemplated in West Virginia? The promises are direct that if one million of bonds are subscribed, the road will be built, and Kanawha thus comes to the front to be the first to assume her share of the subscription.

For the REPUBLICAN.

TAX-PAYERS READ AND PONDER.

COL. W. W. BROWN:—That the Commissioners and Auditors of Centre Co., should have a medal for their legerdemain system of stating the financial accounts of the county, is clearly proven by the two annual statements of the Receipts and Expenditures of the county. By their published statement they exhibit a boldness in the mistification of financial accounts, that will compare favorably with "Boss Tweed" of the Tammany Ring. New York, or charitably speaking, they are ignorant of the simple rules of book-keeping, of which ignorance it would be cruel to charge the cute and able custodians of the tax payers money.

Why is it, that they cannot give us two annual exhibits in the main alike, under the same heading?

Why is it, that they change base in '72 from the course persued in 1871?

Had their cyphering to be resorted to, for the purpose of getting the tax-payers to play "Blindman's Buff" with the custodians of the County?

In the Auditors Report of the 2nd of January 1871, the Treasurer is charged with $96,170 34, and he claims credit with out standing taxes for 1869,

Assessed for 1870	$11,740 85
Exonerations to Collectors	27,0.7 50
Per centage paid Collectors	1,174 25
Treasurer and Stationery	1,5.0 27
	2,010 00
Making the sum of	$43,522 72
Leaving in the Treasurer of available assets to the sum of	$51,641 62
But the Treasurer claims to have paid Commissioners Orders to the amount of	48,588 09
Balance	$ 3,056 53
Also claims for transfering to State account	$ 1,049 82

But we have another version of the Auditors Report headed "Recapitulation" as follows:

Receipts	$56,111 49
Expenditures	54,101 27
Balance in Treasury	$ 2,101 22

Now, this is all the county financiers, had in the Treasury on the 2nd day of January 1871, with which to pay the interest and principal on their loans!! It may be asked, was the county indebted at that time? Look at the 2nd "Recapitulation" of the Auditors Report, and you will find it there stated "amount of liabilities" for which the county was indebted at that time was $39,206 05. Has any part of this indebtedness been payed off since? This I shall endeavor to ascertain. If any part of it has been paid, or how much of it, to whom it was due and the time when paid are all questions which deeply concern the tax-payers. Let us see!!!

The Auditors Report of 1871, was a little more systematic and satisfactory than the Report of 1872. For instance, under the head of "Receipts," we have "amount recieved from collectors and other sources," from 1867 to '70, and then it gives the name of each Collector, and the amount paid into the Treasury. Also, the balances due by "Defaulting Collectors" on their Duplicates from 1864 to 1870 and their names. This policy is not persued by the Auditors and Commissioners Report of 1872; but is designedly suppressed—concealed, hidden from the eye of the tax payer. But I shall endeavor to unravel it. CATO.

A REPUBLICAN THIEF THE MEANEST IN THE WORLD.

Senator Henry Wilson in his vigorous speech in New Hampshire, the other day, said: "The Democratic party—I mean the modern Democratic party—came into power in 1829, under General Jackson. One man, Samuel Swartwout, in General Jackson's day, when the Government raised only a few millions of dollars a year, stole $1,000,000 in the New York Custom House—nearly as much money as has been stolen under this administration in three years, in collecting and paying out nearly $2-100,000,000. The per centage of loss under this administration has been less than under any administration since General Jackson was inaugurated President of the United States. There is not a shadow of doubt of it. I assert here and now that there has been a less per centage of loss under Gen. Grant's Administration than any other Administration since the days of John Quincy Adams. John Tyler, a son of President Tyler, in a letter recently published, states that there were in Van Buren's Administration ninety-eight receivers of public money, ninety six of whom were defaulters. Ninety-six out of ninety-eight! [Laughter.] Is there any man here to-night who knows that any one of these men was ever sent to the penitentiary? I believe that a Republican thief is worse than a Democratic thief. [Laughter.] He has not had so many bad examples. [Laughter and applause.] A Republican thief is the wickedest and meanest thief in all the land. He joins a great party that was brought into being to give freedom to the slave, maintain the unity of the country and preserve the life of the nation. In the ranks of that party is a large mass of the intelligence of the country, of the praying men and women of the country. A man who joins that political organization, betrays his trust, and steals the money of the Government, is a base creature, and the penitentiary is the only place where he should go." Jobbing Republicans, take notice!

THE Hartford Post tells the following story of the experience of a New York Herald Reporter is interviewing the Democratic candidate for Governor of Connecticut, Mr. Hubbard: It is customary, you know," said he "for gentlemen in public life to give their opinions upon political questions, in this way, as the results of interviews with representatives of the press, and I have called on behalf of the Herald for that purpose." The unfortunate victim of the Burr-Green conspiracy listened to the young gentleman's remarks attentively; then, with a perceptible lift of the nose, replied: "My young friend, do you know what my profession is?" The Herald man replied in the negative. "I am a lawyer," continued R. D. "When I give an opinion I expect to be paid for it, but is my business. I do not give opinions, unless to personal friends or charitable objects. I have not the honor of your acquaintance, and you do not seem to me to be an object of charity." Mr. Hubbard bowed and smiled. The Herald man put up his pencil and winked. And then the Herald man went in a disconsolate way.

THE BEAUTIFUL SUNSHINE.

BY MARY J. S. UPTHUR STURGES.

"The beautiful snow! let it go! yes, go!
'Tis the beautiful sunshine I want, you know—
One ray in my half-dead face—ah—so!
This cellar's so cold and damp."
A rickety stool and a broken chair,
A pile of tatter-, and she lies there;—
Oh, for the warming sunshine where
There is neither stove nor lamp!

The beautiful snow! Ah, poet, sing low
Your beatiful song as we go, as we go;
Note by note it is lost in the wall of woe,
As we traverse the streets at will.
For, hear her: "O biting and bitter snow—
Torturing, chilling wherever you go—
I thought it was only man that could so
Pierce and freeze and kill!

"I thought it was only the scorner's sneer
That could curdle the heart-blood as you do here,
And pinch to the marrow and bones, and sear
With the venom of winter-breath.
But it's winter without and winter within
And around and above this abode of sin,
And the pitiless snow drifts in—and in—
As I stare at the great white Death.

"And the storm is over, you say? Ah me!
Well, glory to Heaven! Did you let me see
A glimpse of the sunshine? or could it be
A dream of the years ago!
Did you pull away from the window-pane
The ragged blanket that all in vain
From habit I stuff there in snow and rain?
Say, was it a dream, or no?

"Ah, that was no vision! Thank God! thank God!
Pretty soon on the pauper's burial sod
Must come (in pity defend the clod
From the pelting and pitiless snow!)—
Must come the winter- as I lie deep—
Must come the summers as there I sleep—
But, give a nook where the sunshine may creep
On the grave unknown and low!

"Thanks! thanks for that warming glow and beam!
Is it real? Let me kiss it! But do I not dream?
Twenty years came down in that thawing gleam;
Twenty years ago, you know.
You saw it shine in the harlot's hair,
But you saw not the chrism that descended there,
The sanctified memory of years so fair!—
Twasn't thus with the warring snow.

"That messenger bright as it came from heaven—
Could it be?—did it say, 'Thy sins forgiven?'
It sounded so, and I thought the leaven
Came out of the far-away,—
Came out of the good deeds they had done—
The dear 'old folks' that are dead and gone—
That I stabbed with my sins and then left
Alone,—
Could it be? could it be?—I say.

"Twenty years ago!—shall I tell you now
Of a pure young girl with an innocent brow?
Of a love misplaced?—of a broken vow?
You will laugh at me I trow!
'Tis no laughing matter?' Ah, there you're right!
Then I'll tell of the wooing that summer night,
When the apple-blooms fell in the fair moonlight,—
Ah! had I but been cold as the snow!

"The beautiful sunshine! More! give me more!
Oh, how it soothes me—my bones so sore!
Best of all, how it shows me the beautiful shore
Where I was beloved and young.
The shore of that sea I can never repass!
And yet I am there—for a sunny-haired lass
Dances butterfly-like in the flowers and grass,
And she sings the songs I sung.

"Let them talk—let them sing of the beautiful snow,
Blessed with warmth and plenty wherever they go,—
It has different stories for high and low,
As my cellar down here will say.
Yes, deceitful snow! your errand is higher
Than burthen of want to the dame or sire
Of the household circle around yon fire
In the great house over the way.

"But the beautiful sunshine that brings my dreams
Is the only thing upon earth that seems
To speak to all alike and that deems
The outcast's horrid den
As fitting a place—in its filth and sin—
To mention the name of the Maker in,
And love, by the law of love to win,
As the grandest palace of men."

THE BOND OF FRATERNITY.

MASONRY.

THE MASON'S CHILD.

CHAPTER I.

Faster and faster the flames, and now the ship was enveloped in a fiery sheet. Men and women rushed in madly over the side to meet a quicker but less painful death. The boats, with one exception, had been overladen and capsized. There were hasty prayers, and heart-rending cries of misery and distress. Death hovered, vulture-like, over his victims; some clung desperately to the vessel's side, some supported themselves in the water by articles snatched hastily from the burning ship, and with which they had leaped wildly into the sea. The captain sang through his trumpet, "Take heart, and sustain yourself as long as possible. A ship is coming to our rescue."

James Durant stood upon the almost deserted dock with his only child, but four years of age, folded closely in his arms. His eyes swept the horizon in search of the ship to which the captain had alluded. He discovered it at last, but it was at least four miles off. Before the ship could arrive, they must be burned to death; or, if he sprang, as others had, down into the water, both he and the child would be drowned, for he was no swimmer.

The little arms were twined about his neck, the pale cheek rested confidingly against his own, but the brave child did not tremble.

"O my God, is there no help?" cried the despairing father, as the flames swept nearer, and he felt that his present position could be held but a little longer.

"Here, give the child to me, and I will save her;" and, turning quickly, Mr. Durant stood face to face with a stranger, who had a life-preserver in his hand.

"Quick! there is no time to be lost! The child can have my life-preserver, and it will float her easily. Yonder is another ship; I have been watching it for the last five minutes. It will reach us in half an hour at the most. There, that is fastened securely. Now, little girl, I am going to throw you into the water. You are not afraid?"

"No, no, papa?"

The father caught her frantically in his arms.

"My darling Eva, you may never see your father again; but do not fear,—God will guard you, and somebody will find you and take care of you. If you never see papa again, remember he is in heaven with mamma."

"Has she no relatives?" asked the stranger.

"None in this country; I am from England, and am traveling for her health."

"Take that pin from your bosom, and fasten it to her clothing.

"Heaven help you for the thought," said the father; and in a moment the square and compass was glistening on the bosom of the child, and the stranger took her from her father's arms, saying: "I am stronger than you; she must be cast beyond the reach of those poor drowning wretches, or they will rob her of her life-preserver."

The white drapery fluttered through the air, and sank below the waves; then rising, it floated lightly on the water.

James turned to the stranger with tearful eyes.

"May God bless you and preserve you, noblest of men. But you, as well as myself, must be lost."

"No; I am a good swimmer, and here is a piece of board with which you can sustain yourself until relief arrives."

The father cast another glance at the white speck floating rapidly away, and with an inward "God preserve her!" sprang into the sea, followed by the stranger; but the two floated in different directions, and they saw each other no more.

Two hours latter, James Durant awoke, as from the sleep of death, and found himself in the cabin of a strange ship, with kind and sympathizing faces all around him. In a moment he realized all that had passed, and said, eagerly, though feebly:—

"My child,—little Eva; is she safe?"

There was no response, and a low moan escaped the father's lips.

"Courage, sir," said a lady with tearful eyes; "some of the passengers were saved by another ship."

The father's countenance lightened. "God grant that she may be safe."

Mr. Durant recovered his usual strength in a few hours, and sought among the saved for the stranger who had proven himself so true a Masonic Brother, but he was not to be found.

"He must be on the other ship," said Mr Durant, "and he will care for Eva."

Both ships were at port the following day, but although Mr. Durant found the stranger who had befriended him, and who proved to be a Mr. Wadsworth, from a southern city, Eva was seen by no one, and given up as lost.

CHAPTER II.

"Here, wife, is a child that has just been washed upon the beach. She is cold and stiff, but I think she is not dead. Let us have some warm flannels immediately, and tell Thomas to run for Dr. Hunt."

It was long before the quivering lasher and feeble fluttering of the heart gave token that success would crown the efforts of Eva's rescuers; but, by and by, the lids parted, and revealed two large, liquid, sky blue eyes, that wandered from face to face in a bewildered way, and then closed wearily.

"I fear she will not recover very rapidly," said the doctor. "She has a delicate constitution, and will require the best of care."

"Poor child!" said Mrs. Turner; I do not wonder she is nearly dead; but who can she be? Some terrible accident must have occurred at sea."

"You had better examine her clothing,' said the doctor; 'perhaps you may find some clue to her relations."

Mrs. Turner lifted the gossamer white dress, and turned it over and over. The square and compass placed there by Mr. Durant flashed upon the eyes of all at once. The doctor and Mr. Turner looked at each other, but neither spoke, and Mrs. Turner did not notice the tear that glistened in her husband's eyes.

The doctor's fears that Eva would not recover rapidly proved to be well founded, days and weeks of fever succeeded in awakening her to life, during which she talked incoherently of "papa" and "poor mamma," and of the "burning ship" and of "hunger." She finally awoke to consciousness, and asked many questions as to where she was and how she came in the dark room, and who were those who attended her, but Dr. Hunt forbade her being questioned until she was stronger.

How interested were all in the little convalescent, whom the elements had cast into the little seaboard town! The ladies declared that never before did a child posses such lovely eyes or such beautiful curls, while the gentlemen seemed no less interested, and brought her gifts of everything that might please her childish fancy.

"My dear little girl," said Dr. Hunt, when Eva was at length able to ride out, "will you tell me your name?"

"Eva," said the child; "I thought you knew it."

"Yes, I know your name is Eva; but I want to know the rest of your name—your father's name."

"Eva Durant. Mr. Durant is my papa."

"Yes I want you to tell me all you can remember about your father and mother."

Eva's eyes filled with tears. "Oh, sir, my mamma died and went to live with the angels. And I do not know where papa is. He said if I never saw him again, I must know he had gone to mamma."

"Where were you when he told you this?"

"On the ship and oh, the fire burned me so, and papa held me in his arms until a strange man took me and tied something under my arms and threw me into the water, and I have not seen papa since. Oh, sir, can you tell me where he is?"

"No, dear child, but perhaps we may yet find him."

And this was all that Eva's new friend could discover. It was plain she had come from the ship which had been burned a few weeks before; that she had been cast upon the sea, and floated to the shore but where was her father? Had he been saved, and was he searching for his child? Everypossible effort was now made to find him. The circumstances of the case, with the statement of the child, were published fully in the newspapers of the neighboring cities, but the grief stricken father, believing his child to be lost, had saild a week before for Europe, and it soon became settled in the minds of Eva's protectors, that he had perished. But the little one still prattled about her "papa," and said he would come by and by; those who believed differently would not pain her by contradiction.

The square and compass that had been found upon her clothing was regarded as a powerful appeal from a Mason to his brethren to care for his child. So it came to pass that Eva became, as it were, the special charge of Hiram Lodge, No. 93. Mr. Turner would gladly have taken the entire care of the little waif, and the wealthy Senator W—— requested to be allowed to adopt her as his daughter; but the Brethren in Lodge' assembled, declared by a vote that Eva should be reared, educated and protected by the Lodge, and that as Providence had placed her in Brother Turner's house, that should be her home.

And so years went by, and Eva became a healthy, joyous child, flitting here and there, and everywhere meeting the warmest of welcomes. The Masonic Hall was but a few rods from Mr. Turner's residence and Eva often went with him as far as the door, and then returned alone, always bidding the Tyler "take good care of Pa Turner, and send him home early."

CHAPTER III.

The six years that followed the death of his wife and the loss of his child, passed wearily to James Durant. He visited nearly every country in the old world, seeking among scenes of natural beauty and grandeur as well as of historic interests for the mental rest which could never be found. Once more he turned his steps toward America, and sought his Masonic friend Wadsworth. Finding that gentleman about setting out with his family on a journey to the Atlantic coast, Mr. Durant accepted the invitation to accompany them to Saratoga and Niagara, then to New York, where leaving the ladies, Mr. Wadsworth and Mr. Durant wandered from town to town along the coast, enjoying the beauty of the scenery and the quiet hospitality that greeted them more than the crowded hotels and the fashionable style of the popular watering place. Fancy, and the kind hand of Providence, at length led them to the little town of B——, and the second evening after their arrival they visited the Masonic Lodge. A warm welcome was extended to these brethren from such distant homes, and both were invited to address the Lodge. Mr Durant said:

"Brethren: I have traveled much and long. I have found Masonic sympathy in every part of the globe, and everywhere is masonry substantially the same. I can hardly tell where I reside. The world seems to be my home, as I remain but a short time in any town or country, but my name is recorded in an English Lodge. I love my English brethren, for they first brought me "from darkness to light," and I love English soil, for with it sleeps the wife of my youth. But I love American soil, also, for here have I found the warmest of welcomes, the kindest of brethren. And, too, my own child is sleeping in American waters, even beneath the very waves that wash the shores of your beautiful village.

"Six years have passed since this dear friend and brother robbed himself of his life preserver, that my little Eva might perhaps escape, and we hoped the elements would be kind, and that heaven would send her relief, but she was never heard of any more."

The voice of Mr. Durant was quivering with emotion, and unable to speak further, he seated himself and covered his face with his hands.

Glances of surprise and pleasure were cast from one to another among the brethren of Hiram Lodge. No one spoke however, but all eyes turned upon the Master, Mr. Turner. For a moment he seemed reflecting; then taking a slip of paper from the secretary he wrote:

"Mrs. Turner—Do not allow Eva to retire until I return home; tell her I am going to bring a strange gentleman who wishes to see her." And calling the Junior Deacon, Mr. Turner gave him the note, saying in a low voice: "Take this note to Mrs. Turner immediately."

"Why, Eva," said Mrs. Turner, when she had read the message, "you are going to have company. A strange gentleman is at the lodge room who wishes to see you."

"Who can it be?"

Eva looked perplexed and thoughtful, suddenly her cheeks flushed, her eyes lighted, and clapping her little hands, she sprang to her feet and exclaimed, "Oh, it must be papa! no one else could wish to see me; no one in the world;" and before Mrs. Turner comprehended the child's interpretation, she had passed the threshold and was flitting through the moonlight toward the lodge room. The Tyler looked amazed when Eva burst into the ante-room, her cheeks burning, her eyes flashing with joy and excitement.

"Do not stop me; I am going in!" she exclaimed. But the inner door was fastened, and the impatient Eva nearly cried with vexation.

"Wait a moment," said the Tyler, who having heard nothing of what had transpired within, was at a loss to account for the strange conduct of the child; "wait a moment, and I will send your request to Mr. Turner. He will come out and see you."

"I shall not wait! I do not want to see Mr. Turner, I want to see my papa."

"The child is crazy, that is evident," said the perplexed Tyler to himself; but calling out the deacon, he bade him say that Eva was there and had determined to get into the lodge room.

The deacon went to the East, and delivered his message in a low tone, and a moment afterward the craft were called from "labor to refreshment."

"Now," said Mr. Turner: "tell the Tyler to let her come in."

And Eva did come, or rather bounded, into the hall, more beautiful in her excitement than ever before. She advanced to the centre of the room and stood beside the altar, half poised upon the tiny foot she scanned rapidly the face of all. Her eager eyes soon detected the strangers, who were seated behind each other, and for a moment she seemed irresolute, then darting forward with a glad cry, she threw her arms about the neck of Mr. Durant, crying, "Oh, papa! my dear papa! you have come home at last! You were not burned in the ship?"

We will not attempt to paint the scene further, but will leave our readers to imagine the joy of the fond father, and also leave them to decide whether the tears that wet the cheeks of the brethren of Hiram lodge were caused by sympathy with the happiness of their little charge or grief that they should lose one whom they all loved.

How to Pay a Church Debt.

The easiest thing in the world, providing you understand manipulation and the weakness of poor human nature.—Build a gorgeous meeting house, and run the church deep in debt. Let the church edifice rival in architectural magnificence the largest one in town. Build it of a capacity four times larger than the exigency of the times demand. Begin to build on a wide basis, even if you do not know where three fourths of the money is to come from. Of course the house is to be built in the name of the Lord—not in the name of some men seeking human glory, nor yet in the name of some carnalized religious party. Accumulate an enormous debt, and if mechanics and laboring men clamor for their weekly wages, and curse the committee on church building, who just tell them they ought to be ashamed of themselves, and instead of pushing the cramped committee, they ought to be willing to wait a year on the Lord, and not run greedily after consecrated things.

As the said day of dedication advances, get up a great hue and cry on the streets placard the bulletin boards and the corners of houses, advertise profusely in all the papers, and if possible monopolize their pages; get the right kind of men and women on your committees, and, to show that you understand the fine art of diplomacy, start out boy committees and girl committees; for what cold hearted Shylock could repel the importunities of pretty girl, or the suave manners of docile and well dressed boy? Let the dread dedication day be preceded by musical concerts, where there shall be a grand display of silver horns, and timbrels, and dulcimers, and baritone pipes, for so was it in the days of Solomon, and he was no fool. Issue tickets at such a high rate, that by so doing you will exclude poor barbarians, and make room for the grand orchestral aristocracy, for does not the word aristocracy, mean that the best shall rule? Issue several hundred complimentary tickets, and place these in the hands of influential patricians who know their men, and distribute to the best possible advantage; for it is in this style you may stop the mouths of influential opposers, who may indicate conscientious scruples, or by this mode of procedure draw a great crowd. For where the crowd is gathered together, there will the money also be.

Send for your professional beggar who may live a thousand miles away, and who understands the ins and outs of the dedicatory service, and how to pun and make fun and excite hilarity, as the grand tournament proceeds. When the day—the day of all days in the history of the church—arrives, devoutly wished for, the chief thing to be considered is, how to get up a good feeling, which shall result in a spontaneous combustion of latent benevolence. The choir sing in the highest glee. The whole house is filled with melody. There is a flutter of ecstatic joy, and sweet smiling faces and responsive nods of admiration, and the rustling of harmonious sounds fills vault, and alcove, and pulpit, and chancel. After a beautiful rhetorical prayer of unusual unction, the statement of the finances is made in unique graceful style, after that the fact is also announced that the church cannot be dedicated and be set apart to the worship of God, until the entire debt is cancelled. Now begins a rigmarole of flattery that pleases the dupes and disgusts the people of propriety. Appeal after appeal, like the repeated peals of a clattering bell, are made in tones of profound sympathy. The pent in crowd are informed that they are the most magnanimous people in the world, the most highly favored, socially, religiously and nationaly, in all the wide world the richest, the noblest and the most intellectual in the wide domain of Christendom. The audience is told that the payment of a church debt is money making business, that the Lord will pay it all back with double interest; that it will fill the poor man's larder, put meat in the barrel, and potatoes in the cellar; that it will carry bread to the hungry, and put raiment upon the widows and clothes upon shivering children. Under such a pressure the whole audience get religion, and the imported auctioneer, in a sort of serio comic style, puts up his wares and calls for bidders. Then ensues a scene that beggars description.

According to previous arrangement, picked men—stool pigeons, figure heads representing $1000, $5000, $100, $50, $25, head off successively as captains of Gideon's band, coaxing out big fish and little fish from their hiding places. And ever and anon, between the brisk biddings, the sacerdotal auctioneer interlards the grand performance with jets of laughing gas, with sallies of spontaneous wit (very coarse and far fetched sometimes), and with sparkling words of sickly sentimentality. And all goes merry as a marriage bell, and the cry is, "On with the dance, let joy be unconfined, for the day of jubilee has come, and our shameful church debt is melting down. Blow the bellows, stir up the live coals down with the sledge hammer, strike while the iron is hot, let the sparks scintillate, melt the hard hearts, loose the purse strings down with your cash. Amen and amen!

Then unregenerate sinners must be appealed to, and be called out and complimented with the hypocritical designation of 'Bro. So and so—no, come along, donate your filthy lucre, and this shall be your passport to heaven;" and then bejuggled sinners, whom, on other occasions the churchmen would despise as vulgar and unregenerate donate with an eye to business, because their patronage must be retained, and this is just as easy a way to extend business operations, and to expend business operations, and to purchase human glory as any other way. The patronage of a big church is a big thing. And so far as the prosperity of the church is concerned, the end sanctifies the means, for such has been the philosophy of the church ever since the palmy days of Hildebrand.

Next day after the dedication is a season of counter irritation and solemn reflection. Many swear on the streets and vociferously declare that they were badly taken in, that the things is a grand humbug, that it was a disgraceful affair, that they will never be caught in such a manner again, but poor souls, they do not know themselves; for as a backslider returns to the beggarly elements of carnality, so, on the very day of the next dedication, they will go, as the dumb brute to the slaughter, and be skinned alive for has not Barnum made the solemn assertion that the people of the United States have to be humbugged?' And has he not kept a menagerie, lo, these many years? The poor man, sitting in deep reverie, and contemplating his prospective business, looks askance at his thinly clad wife and children, and thinking of his mortgaged little house, wonders where the money of the subscription is to come from. He begins to think that slavery is not yet abolished, for he must endure the oppression of his employer, and do as he tells him or lose his place; vote as his monopolizing employer tells him to vote, donate as he tells him to donate, and follow the wink of his eye, or be cashiered from his service. Verily, slavery is not yet dead.

But no matter, the great agony is over the great rival church is built and paid for—even at the expense of the poor man's blood, and the tears of the desolate at the expense of principle and the abuse of christian conscience. Better to suffer the loss of pure and undefiled religion, and live without the humble spirit of Christ, than not to have the most magnificent church structure in the city. Great is Diana of the Ephesians.—Cincinnati American Christian Review.

ABOUT MONUMENTS.

It is a fact that immediately after the close of the war which crushed the slaveholder's rebellion and made freedom universal in this country, almost all, if not entirely all the counties in Pennsylvania proposed to erect monuments to the memory of those of their citizens who had perished while fighting on the side of the Government. Not more than one tenth of these projected memorials were finished, while in the great majority of counties no effort was made to begin the work of such erection. In many localities, as in Harrisburg, there are unfinished columns, disgraceful to all that is grateful and patriotic in their present condition, and a reproach to the decency as well as the honesty of the several communities where they stand. Referring to this subject, and taking its cue from an article in the State Journal discussing the matter, the Bellefonte Republican suggests that the State authorities assume the expense of completing the monument of Dauphin county, and that when it is finished it be naugurated as a State memorial of gratitude to the loyal dead. Here is the proposition of the Republican:

After the war nearly every county talked of erecting monuments to the soldiers who fell, while fighting to put down the slaveholders' rebellion. Very few finished the work. We talked here about a monument, for the dead braves of Centre county; but it was all talk and no monument. Now, we would suggest that an act of the Legislature be passed changing that "unfinished granite column," from a Dauphin county monument to a monument for the State—that the name of each county be inscribed thereon, with the inscription, "In memory of the fallen braves of Centre county," for instance. Let the same act provide an appropriation of sufficient money to finish the unfinished column This is the only way, in our opinion, that our dead soldiers will ever receive a granite or marble monument. It is a duty the State owes its noble defenders, who gave their lives for their country, and Harrisburg, the capital of the State, is the proper place for such a monument.

Without a doubt the State ought to erect at its capital a fitting monument to the memory of the soldiers of Pennsylvania who died while resisting rebellion, but it would not be fair to ask Dauphin county to pay three-fourths of the cost of such a tribute. It will only require a very few thousand dollars to complete our county monument, and as sufficient money was originally subscribed to do this work, we still live in hope that the committee in charge of it will be able to complete the monument, or at least to give the people a satisfactory audit and report showing why it failed. The Legislature ought at once to provide for a State monument, for which there is ample room in the public grounds, a site in all respects fitting by its classic memories on which to erect such a memorial. Let Journals like the Bellefonte Republican advocate this proposition, and it will be a success.—State Journal.

THE Democratic papers throughout the country are in ecstacies over the nomination of David Davis for the Presidency. Already they are showing tha cloven foot in the matter. Having engineered their game through the Laborers' Convention at Columbus, Ohio they are now engaged in trying to impress upon Old Line Whigs, dissatisfied Republicans and ignorant Democrats, that Mr. Davis was a Whig; that he was a partner of Mr. Lincoln; that Mr Lincoln appointed him as one of the Supreme Judges of the United States Court, and that "he is as sound as was Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson." This quotation we take from the New Albany (Indiana) Ledger, one of the bitterest and most prominent Democratic sheets published in the West. In other days it had no good word for the Whig party, but now, in its hope that it can work upon the feelings of the "Old Whigs," it comes out and prates about Henry Clay. This kind of talk will not do. It is, to use a vulgarism now-a-days, "too thin." Old Whigs mostly are Republicans in these times, and cannot be caught by the cobwebs thrown out by the Democracy.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

—The Boston Transcript says: The man who governs France is much in the situation of the sailor who caught a tiger under a tub. If he don't sit down on him all the time as hard as he can the tiger will lift the tub and be out and at him. If he finds the tub lifting on one side a shade, the beast beneath discovers a lifting up on the opposite side of the tub and has his nose out there instanter. Would not the man on the top sometimes like to take turns with some body in governing France so that he might sleep now and then out of reach and sound of the tiger?"

FANNY FERN writes in reference to the expensive toys now in vogue: "The doll of my bib days was a crooked necked squash, with a towel for a dress, and a numerous progeny of little cucumbers for babies, and I was just as happy, and a great deal better contented, than the little girl of to-day with a $100 Paris doll."

AN Indiana lady under sentence of imprisonment for life, offers $30,000 for a husband. Some lucky bachelor will doubtless speedily avail himself of the first opportunity ever presented in Indiana to secure a really domestic wife.

THE AMERICAN WASHER?

PRICE $5.50

THE AMERICAN WASHER SAVES MONEY, TIME, AND DRUDGERY.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no Longer Dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing, Sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours' practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting! It is always ready for use! It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly. One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one-half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing thoroughly! In a word, the ablution of any fabric, from a Quilt to a Lace Curtain or Cambric Handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the LITTLE GEM! It can be fastened to any tub and taken of at will

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleansing efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once becomes the fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and loud sounding advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

$5.50.

All that is asked for this GREAT LABOR SAVER, is a fair trial We guarantee each machine to do its work perfectly.

AMERICAN INDUSTRIES & "REVENUE REFORMERS."

NO. II.

Last week we could only speak of Pig and Bar iron, now we shall call the attention of our readers to the importance of our Steel Rail, Salt and Wool manufacturers and prices, first:

STEEL RAIL.

The manufacture of steel rails in the United States, to any considerable extent, is a very recent industry. It is scarcely five years old; but if cared for and fostered by judicious protection, it promises most important results. We are all aware that the steel rail, or steel faced rail, is rapidly superceding the iron rail; and eminent railway managers say they would rather pay $100 a ton for steel rails than lay down iron rails, if offered as a gift. When introduced from England in 1860, the British manufacturers charged $200 per ton for their steel rails. By paying a royalty to the English inventor the privilege of manufacturing steel rails in this country under the Bessemer patents, was secured by American capitalists. Steel rail works were erected and put in operation, and the result is the production of steel rails, equal in quality, as English Engineers have declared, to the best British steel rails. There are now nine Steel Rail Manufactories in operation in this country, put up at a cost of over ten million dollars. They are distributed over the country, as follows: One each in Harrisburg, Bethlehem and Johnstown, Pa.; Troy, N. Y; Detroit, Mich; Cleveland, Ohio; Joliet, Ill.; and two in Chicago, uninjured by the great fire. Some of these have been in operation only one, and some of the others only two or three years. Congress placed a duty of 1¼ cent per lb. on steel rails, and 1 cent per lb. on rails part steel, or steel faced. Under this duty our steel rail works are running in successful competition with those of England, in our own markets. The cost of steel rails has, in consequence of American enterprise and a protective tariff, fallen from $200 down to $100 per ton. Here are the average prices since the introduction of steel rails in this country:

In 1862 price, per ton.....	$200
In 1865 price, per ton.....	175
In 1867 price, per ton.....	165
In 1869 price, per ton.....	125
In 1871 price, per ton.....	100

From this we see that American competition has brought the price down to just one half that was paid for English rails in 1862; and yet British manufacturers continue to compete with our manufacturers, paying transportation and duties; or what is the same thing, selling to American contractors at prices which, when transportation and duties are added, are not above the prices of American made steel rails. Here we have an illustration of the direct tendency of protection in reducing prices. Yet Mr. Atkinson claims that the manufacture of steel rails should not be fostered by a protective tariff. He says: "The consumption of steel rails has been obstructed for the ostensible benefit of a little force of workmen in steel works," and again: "The entire force of laborers in all the steel works of the United States would only be sufficient to run one large machine shop, and that the capital invested would be barely sufficient to build and equip a hundred, or a hundred and fifty miles of railroad." This statement is made in the face of the fact that over ten million of dollars have been invested in nine Steel Rail establishments, whose product in 1870, was 50,000 tons of steel rails, and in 1871 will not be far short of 100,000 tons, while the extensions contemplated will bring the product up to 150,000 tons in 1872, unless paralyzed by the machinations of Revenue Reformers and the overthrow of protection.

England has no cause of complaint. Her present sales of steel rails in the United States exceed her own consumption. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1870, her manufacturers sent us steel rails to the value of 9½ million dollars; and during the year ending June 30, 1871, the amount paid for English steel rails was over 17½ million dollars, or about double the amount paid during the previous year. Here is healthy competition. But listen to the Revenue Reformers, throw off, or reduce the duty, and what will be the result? England's export of steel rails to this country will be doubled—quadrupled. Our Steel Rail works will go under—as one of them, at Lewistown, Pa., went under before the duty was raised—and England becoming again master of the situation, will run the price of rails up to $175 gold, as in 1865, or even $200, as in 1862. On more than one occasion this has been our experience in her competition in pig iron and iron rails, and it would as certainly follow again if the opportunity were afforded.

SALT.

There has been almost as much said and written for and against the duty on salt as upon the duties levied on all other articles embraced in the tariff. And yet what does the duty on salt amount to annually, divided among the population? A fraction over two cents to each individual. It is not even a three cent affair. Yet to our own manufacturers it has afforded a protection that has enabled them to compete successfully with foreign salt. With the duty at 4 cents per bushel in 1861, the foreign article had a monopoly of all our sea board markets, and the home product could find no sale beyond the neighborhood in which the article was produced; and excepting the salt works at Syracuse and Saginaw, the product of the country was scarcely worth naming. Now salt works are established in many of the States, and the product has gone up from twelve million bushels in 1861, to twenty-five million bushels in 1869. It is still increasing, under a protective tariff of 24 cents, per 100 pounds, or about 14 cents per bushel.

And yet the price of salt, in gold, is not more to-day than it was in 1860, the assertion of Mr. Wells and the Free Trade League to the contrary notwithstanding. The supply of foreign salt is decreasing. During the fiscal year of 1871, it was thirteen million bushels, and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1871, it was eleven million, being a decrease of two millions, or 16 per cent. in a single year. Yet England enjoys a very liberal share of our trade in salt, and the competition between the home and the foreign product continues sharp and constant. The duty from salt amounts annually to a fraction over one million dollars. But the home supply of over two thirds of the whole, control the markets and fixes the prices.—This being the case, the foreign producer is obliged to pay the duties out of his own pockets, and accept the prices fixed by American manufacturers. The foreign monopoly is broken up, and competition is in a healthy condition, while a million dollars are added to the public revenue. The president of the Saginaw, Mich., salt works says: "Nothing is now wanting but prudent management to give Saginaw the entire control of the markets of the Western States." That is against foreign and Syracuse competition. And the general impression of Manufacturers is that in 1872 or '73, the home product will be equal to the entire demand.

The argument of Mr. Wells, that the duty causes a monopoly by a few individuals is too absurd to demand a reply. It is true that the Syracuse Works, being in operation at the commencement of the war, have netted the owners large profits. But shall we throw off the duty because one company has grown rich, while all the other salt manufacturers were scarcely realizing fair profits? In a country where competition is free, and salt works can be operated in nearly every State, there can be no monopoly in the manufacture of that article. On the contrary there is as keen a competition in the manufacture of that article to-day as there is in any other branch of industry. The true policy in reference to salt is for Congress to continue the duty as it is at present, until the home supply is fully equal to the demand.

WOOL.

Free Traders and Revenue Reformers cry loudly against a protective duty on wool. The duty varies, according to the different varieties of the article, from 3 cents per pound upward, averaging on the great bulk of the wools imported, 10 cents per pound specific, and 11 per cent. ad valorem.

To enable the enquirer to form a correct idea of the importance of having a home supply of wool, it will be well to remember that our woolen manufacturers have increased with great rapidity under the protective tariff. Careful estimates show that we produced in 1868, the latest returns at hand, 175 million dollars worth of woolen goods. Value of imports, 65 million of dollars, or about one fourth of the consumption of the country. The rapid strides made in the variety and improvement of our woolen manufactures, during the last ten years, has made us comparatively independent; and no inconvenience would be felt if we should cease importing. This, however, is not required nor demanded. A healthy competition is all that protectionists seek, and this is secured under the present tariff.

Our own woolen manufacturers now give employment to 120 thousand operatives, and consume annually the fleeces of 35 million sheep, an important item in agricultural industry.

Merino wools are required in the manufacture of all the finer fabrics, and it is claimed that American Merino sheep are among the best in the world. Dr. Randall the highest American authority on sheep husbandry, in his report of the Paris Exhibition, says: "It appears, first, that prime American Merino produced more washed wool in 1844–46, than was produced of unwashed wool by the original stock in Spain, at their palmiest period; second, that prime American Merinos produce about as much scoured wool, now, as they did of washed wool in 1844–46, and nearly twice as much as the picked Merino flock of the King of Great Britain from 1798 to 1802. They undoubtedly produce as much scoured wool as the average of the prime Spanish flocks of that period."

Before the duty on wool, was increased, our Merino wool culture was on the eve of being destroyed, by the immense increase of the wool product and the export of South American Countries—La Plata and Buenos Ayres. The increase was, in La Plata alone, in seven years, from 7 millions up to 59 millions of pounds per annum. The wool growers and the wool manufacturers of the United States came together. The wool growers demanded an increase of duty on wool. The manufacturers assented. The duty was raised, and the result was the salvation of the growth of wool in this country. The tariff saved it, and the importation of wool from Buenos Ayres and the Cape of Good Hope fell from 46 thousand bales in the year to only about 7 thousand bales. To do justice to the manufacturers a neutralizing duty was put upon cloth, and these two great industries were thus saved to our country.

"But" say the Revenue Reformers and Free Traders, "you have thus benefited the farmers and the manufacturers at the expense of the masses." This is not according to fact; but admitting the charge for the sake of argument, is it not better to pay a little more for cloths, ladies wear and carpets, if thereby we can secure employment for 200 thousand farmers and artisans, and retain at home 175 million dollars that would otherwise be sent annually out of the country for carpets, cloths, ladies' mixed goods, under goods, flannels and hosiery?

But the charge that prices are permanently increased cannot be sustained.—During the war all goods were enhanced in prices; but to-day the prices of woolen fabrics are not higher, in gold—in most cases not so high—as they were in 1860. This has been demonstrated by actual examination. More than this: On certain kinds of carpets and other woolen fabrics, English manufacturers have been compelled to reduce their prices in order to effect sales in our markets. After pointing out in a pamphlet recently published, the great advance made in the United States, during the last ten years in the variety and quality of woolen fabrics, Mr. J. L. Hayes of Boston, an excellent authority, says: "But the great fact to be looked at is, that we have not only done all this, but we have been enabled to make these goods cheaper through the competition that grows out of our protective system." Mr. Hays backs up his statement by giving the prices of 1860, in gold, and at the present time, in some of the principal wholesale houses for the sale of woolen goods. Space will not allow of going into details; but the facts are accessible to all enquirers. Enough has been adduced to convince every reasonable mind of the wisdom of extending to sheep husbandry, and to its kindred industry, wool manufacturing, that fostering care that has so successfully sustained these two great sources of employment and industrial independence.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is, without doubt, the safest, surest, and remedy that has ever been invented for internal and external use. It is applicable to a great variety of complaints, and is equally beneficial for man or beast.

We have seen it stated in various papers throughout the country, that Agents for the sale of Sheredan's Cavalry Condition Powders were authorized to refund the money to any person who should use them and not be satisfied with the result. We doubted this at first, but the proprietors authorize us to say that it is true.

POLITICAL ITEMS

—Ex-Governor Fairchild, of Wisconsin, who is now in Washington, says the Republican party of Wisconsin are unanimous for Grant.

—In the Christian Union, Henry Ward Beecher declares for General Grant's re-election. He give excellent reasons for taking this position.

—The Irish Republic advises the Irish Republicans to stand by Grant, as the fairest and kindest man to all races that ever sat in the Presidential chair.

—It is the judgement of the country that it is best to let the tariff alone after taking off the duty on tea and coffee. We want no other reductions.

—Persons who are intimate with Judge Davis assert that he looks on the Labor Reform nomination which he received a few days since as of little importance.

—John Tyler, Jr., a son of ex-President Tyler, has written a long and interesting article, predicting the triumph and perpetuity of the Republican party.

—Gen. Butler says he is opposed to members of Congress being delegates to the National Convention. He thinks Gen Grant and all sensible people will agree with him on that point.

—A correspondent of the Brookville Republican suggests the name of G. W. Andrews, Esq, of Brookville, Pa., as a man eminently qualified to fill the office of Auditor General of this State.

—"Nations," said Kossuth once, in one of his most eloquent speeches, "can carry nothing with words." An extensive vocabulary and a glib utterance appear to be all that is left to English statesmen.

—The Erie Observer's Democratic ticket is, for President, William S. Groesbeck, of Ohio; for Vice President, Gratz Brown, Missouri; for Governor of Pennsylvania, Charles R. Buckalew.

—It is commented on as a significant indication of the "course of empire" that New York, which in 1840 had 40 Representatives in Congress as against 5 from the States of Illinois and Missouri, now has but 32 against 32 from these same States.

—The Crawford county Republican Committee will hold a meeting in Meadville, April 5th, to determine whether they will accept or reject the provisions of the act to protect the elections of voluntary political associations, to regulate primary elections, and punish frauds therein.

—It is eleven miles further from Wheeling to Charlestown, West Virginia, under Democratic rule, than it used to be from Charlestown to Wheeling under Republican rule. At least the Democratic members of the Legislature now charge mileage for that additional distance.

—The colored people of South Carolina met recently in convention and issued a call for a national convention of colored men, to be held at New Orleans, on the second Wednesday in April. The call mentions no party, but as one of the points advocated is equality before the law, there is no room to doubt that the convention will be Republican.

—A Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Star says: Senator Sumner, who has been absent from the Senate, ostensibly confined to his house on account of sickness, is ready at work preparing for more sweeping charges against the President, which will demand investigation. These investigations are becoming a nuisance. They have so far consumed the principal portion of the time of the Senate. The discussions on amnesty, the New York Custom House, and the sale of old arms occupied the whole of nine weeks. Not a single bill of importance has yet been acted on by the Senate.

—The Greene county Republican Committee met in Waynesburg on the 9th inst., and ratified the action of the county convention held on June 13th, 1871, in selecting Gen. J. H. Wells as Representative and Dr. W. D. Rogers as Senatorial delegate to the State Convention. Mr. G. W. Day and Hon. J. B. Donley were appointed alternate. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the National and State administrations, and congratulating the people on the prospect of constitutional reform. The county convention to nominate a county ticket will be held on the 21st or May, in Waynesburg.

—A considerable number of the Republicans of Lawrence county, dissatisfied with the action of the county committee in appointing delegates to the State Convention, have presented a petition, numerously signed, to the chairman of the committee, asking that the primary elections be ordered to be held on the 30th inst., to select delegates to a county convention to assemble on April 1st, to choose men to represent the wishes of the people in the State Convention. The county committee tacitly refused to grant the petition, and it is likely that two sets of delegates will go to the State Convention. The committee will hold an adjourned meeting at New Castle, on Saturday, 30th inst.

National Agricultural Association.

To the Press throughout the United States and Territories:

The duty of transacting the business of the National Agricultural Association, ad interim, devolves, by the constitution, upon the President and Secretary. Our first and greatest duty consequently is to make known to the people throughout the length and breadth of our country the existence of such an organization; its purposes and objects; the time of assembling; the basis of representation, and such other matters as may be of general interest to the farmers and agricultural associations throughout the country. There is no method by which this may be done so effectually, economically and quickly as by the press, and we hope that we are not asking too much of it to ask it to aid us in an enterprise so praise worthy, so patriotic and fraught with possibilities for good so immense, wide spread, and of such transcendent importance to the highest interest of the country.

Any improvement in the methods of Agriculture guarantees an improvement in every industrial pursuit. The business of Agriculture lies at the foundation of all others, and unless the farmers are prosperous the other classes cannot be, for the materials of art must of necessity be supplied by the productions of nature. Any organization, therefore, that looks to an enlarged, comprehensive and progressive development of Agricultural science and a diffusion of Agricultural facts and an elevation of Agricultural industry is of general and permanent benefit to the entire country. The objects of the National Agricultural Association are.

1. To protect this leading industry from unjust discriminations in the legislation of the country. All other arts and trades have their organizations, and their voices are heeded in our legislative halls. The farmers of the United States have no perfected national organization. Instead of joining their united energies to effect their deliverance from those evils that have oftentimes sorely oppressed them, they have preferred to work singly, pulling in various and opposite directions, neutralizing the power of each other and producing a state of rest and inactivity by the exertion of equal and opposite forces. In this way they have neutralized their influence and importance. One of the leading objects of the Association is to centralize and consolidate this power so that it may be used at any time it may be necessary for the protection and defence of the interest of Agriculture.

2. To collect and disseminate information pertaining to Agriculture, and to act conjointly with, and as an assistant to, the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

3. To awaken among farmers a class-spirit, which induces co-operation and associated effort.

4 To dignify and popularize the business of Agriculture by showing its importance and usefulness to the country; by making it a desirable field for educated young men to enter; by holding forth its past history, its splendid promises, its many advantages, its independence, its liberizing tendencies, its conservatism, its comparative freedom from failure and its healthful and invigorating influences.

5. To create unity and harmony as well as concert of action in referance to those measures calculated to ensure efficiency, and to secure the development of this great national pursuit; also to consider questions affecting its commercial relations and means of transportation and to take such steps as may be necessary and proper to protect it against the influences of accumulated capital in commercial centres, guarding it against the evils of such aggregated capital, against heartless speculators and great corporations.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The Constitution provides that each State and Territory shall be entitled to two delegates, to be appointed by the State Agricultural Society or Association, if there be such an organization; if not, then the Government of such State or Territory shall appoint its delegates.

It further provides that each Agricultural college organized in conformity with the law of Congress of 1862, made for that purpose, shall be entitled to one representative, and that each regularly organized agricultural society, of fifty or more members, which shall have contributed to the funds of this representation, shall be entitled to one representative.

Delegates in all cases shall be active members of some agricultural organization; they shall present credentials under seal from their respective constituencies; their certificates shall state the bodies represented and the number of members in each.

DUES.

At a meeting of the Executive Council of the Association it was resolved that each agricultural organization in each State or Territory of the United States, upon the payment to the Treasurer of five dollars for the first fifty members, one dollar for each additional fifty members and fractional part thereof, and such further contribution as they may deem proper, shall be regarded as constituent bodies of this Association, and shall be furnished with a copy of every publication, or report, emenating from this Association.

The present Treasurer is F. H. French, of Nashville, Tennessee, to whom remittances may be made by the various agricultural associations.

PLACE AND TIME OF MEETING.

The next meeting will take place on the fourth Monday in May, in St Louis, Mo. It is earnestly desired every local organization throughout the United States may be represented. Essayists have been appointed, and it is expected that the occasion will be one of great interest to those engaged in the pursuit of Agriculture.

Those wishing a copy of the Constitution will be furnished by applying to the Secretary at Nashville Tennessee.

F. JULIUS LEMOYNE, Pres.
J. B. KILLEBREW, Sec'y.

Shying Horses.

A horseman whose horse is given to shying ought never to permit himself to evince nervousness nor punish the animal for exhibitions of timidity. Whenever a horse directs the points of his ears in a certain direction, as though distrustful or afraid, the reins should be pulled in an opposite direction thus diverting the attention of the animal from the object causing the perturbation. If, on the other hand, force or harsh means are used to compel an acquaintance with the object feared, the horse will be doubly excited, if not unmanageable. We have found, in cases of shying or halting, at real or fancied objects of disquite, that stopping the horse and using soothing language answers a good purpose. If the object is stationary, the horse, after a short time, will most usually advance in the direction of it, approaching cautiously till satisfied that no danger is to be apprehended, when he will resume his way in a quiet mood. But if chastised for shying, he will have two objects of fear instead of one, and become more confirmed in the habit of distrustfulness.

POTATOES.—We are inclined to think that farmers seldom plant their potatoes early enough. If planted earlier and deeper, and the ground was harrowed repeatedly with Thomas' harrow before the potatoes came out of the ground, afterwards far less hoeing would be required, and we think a better yield would be obtained.

Harrowing winter wheat is a practice we would earnestly commend. Many farmers are afraid that the harrow will pull up the wheat, but such is not the case. If the land is dry, a good heavy, forty-toothed harrow will destroy many weeds, break the crust, stir the soil, and greatly benefit the wheat.

Most of the coal mines are working on full time.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, (or, as medicinally termed, Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in one Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons of ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, when they compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Was compounded for those not incined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1,50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefitted by it, will most certainly be cheated.

Who would ask for more Dignified or Stronger Testimony?

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1871.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in case of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD.

HON. JAS. THOMPSON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania,.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28, 1867.

I consider "Hoofland's German Bitter" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my own experience of it.
Yours, with respect, JAS. THOMPSON.

HON. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868.

I have found by experience that "Heofland's German Bitters" is a very good tonic, relieving dyspeptic symptoms almost directly.
GEORGE SHARSWOOD

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa,

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so weak, as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. WOOD.

REMEMBER
THAT
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Will Cure every Case of
MARASMUS,
Or Wasting away of the Body.
REMEMBER
THAT
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES

Are the medicines you require to purify the Blood, excite the torpid Liver to healthy action, and to enable you to pass safely through any hardships or exposure.

DR. HOOFLAND'S
PODOPHYLLIN,
Or Substitue for Mercury Pills.
TWO PILLS A DOSE.
The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it specially from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, regulates the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can retain a hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by Express to any locality, upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE, at the GERMAN MEDICINE STORE, 631 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Medical.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so wide and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to cold and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residence in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.

For Liver Complaints, arise from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Perpared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

PRICE, $1,00 PER BOTTLE.
v3n21-1y.

THE GREAT MAGICAL HAIR FORCER
Will force a beautiful set of Whiskers or Mustache in from two to three months, on any person over 12 years old. It is one of the best preparations to make the whiskers grow, that ever was known. One bottle of it is sufficient to produce a very strong beard. It does not in any way stain or injure the skin. Try it—it is no humbug. Price 35 cents per bottle, or four for $1. Sent by mail, post-paid, to any address, on receipt of price. Address, WM. C. WAGNER, Arendsville, Adams co., Pa. v2-32-1y.

Medical.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the [illegible] until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attacks of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leycorrhea or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint; Torpidity, Congestion of Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are LANGUID and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

We would call the special attention of postmasters and our subscribers to the followinw synopsis of the newspaper laws:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter, (returning a paper does not answer the law,) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for his payment.

2. Any person who takes a paper faom the post-office, whether directed to his name or another's, or whether he has subscribed or not, is reponsible for the payment.

3. If a person orders his paper to be discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

4. If the subscriber orders the paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. The law proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima-facie evidence of intentional fraud.

MARCH thus far has been a cold, windy blustering month.

FIRE.—Quite an excitement was created in Boalsburg Harris tp, on Thursday the 14th inst, in consequence of the burning of the carpenter shop of Wm. H. Mayes. The shop was totally destroyed together with all the tools,, books papers, and a lot of manufactured lumber belonging to Mr. Mayes. It has been a long time since a fire occurred in Boalsburg and therefore the excitement was intense. Mr. Mayes had no insurance. We are requested by Mr. Mayes to return his heart felt thanks to the people for their kindness and services rendered.

ANOTHER FIRE.—On last Saturday night about nine o'clock, P. M., the alarm of fire was heard in our streets, and every person was on the alert to ascertain its locality. It was soon discovered to be an old log shanty near the railroad, on the opposite side of the Mill race, from Wm. P. Duncan's great Foundry and Machine Shops. The distance from the Hose Houses of the two fire companies, was about equal, nevertheless the Logan No. 1 was on the ground and was playing a nice stream of water upon the fire, before the Undine No. 2 reached the scene of action. Indeed the Logan had the fire almost extinguished before the Undines were prepared for execution. We intend to treat these companies fairly; but we do think that the Logans get to a fire in very short notice. This fire was evidently the work of an incendiary. Since above was in type some 8 or 10 young men and boys have been arrested and are now in jail.

DR. S. BELFORD, will be found in his office, for ten days. Please give him a call. If you want good work.

CORRESPONDENTS.—"School Boy," of Howard, your communication cannot appear unless you send your real name, not for publication, but for our satisfaction and protection.

—Committee.—Your communication from Howard, has been witheld for the same reason. We are not supposed to know anything about the committee or of whom it was composed. We must always have a responsible name. Just here we would say to "Committee" your communication is rather personal and you fire so much at random that you shoot wide of the mark. In other words, you have not the right man. If you will not trust us with your name, we must disregard your anonymous writing.

—Marshcreek.—Your communication is, we think entirely too personal. The young "Bedstead maker" no doubt deserves a severe castigation; but the young lady, her self, should administer it with a rawhide. Send us all the locals you can. Send facts and all will be right.

ENTERPRISE.—Mr. Curtin was perfectly correct in his statement and it created quite a sensation among the members of the wring. No, sir; Mr. Forney's account is not correctly stated

---

BELLEFONTE AND LEWISTOWN R. R.—At a meeting of the Stockholders of the Willow Bank and Burns Spring Railroad Company, (Bellefonte and Lewistown direct,) held in this place on Monday morning last, there was a good attendance and much interest manifested. D. G. Bush, Esq, was called to the chair and E. W. Hale, appointed Secretary. The commissioners named in the charter appointed the following stockholders, to conduct the election, viz: Stewart S. Lyon, Saml, T. Thompson, A. S. Valentine, who being duly sworn received the votes and reported the following named gentleman elected to manage the affairs of the Company, viz:

PRESIDENT—James Milliken.

DIRECTORS.—Robert Valentine, Danl. Rhoads, Edmund Blanchard, James A. Beaver, Edward C Humes, Wm. M Farlane, J. Ritz Burns, William Mann, Richard H. Downing, Mathew Baird, Samuel J. Reeves, John M. Kennedy.

A better or more efficient board could scarce have been elected for the gentlemen comprising it, are all men of the highest character, of large wealth, and of great business enterprise and influence; the last four are well known citizens of Philadelphia; Mr. Burns and Mr. Mann, are of Mifflin county, and the others of Centre county.

At a meeting of the board Alfred Devereux, Esq, of Philadelphia, was elected Secretary and Treasurer. A corps of Engineers, has been employed who will enter upon the work of locating the road next week, and if a favorable route can be found—the want of which has been the only hindrance to the enterprise in times past—and of which on the new course, we have little doubt, we feel sure that the citizens of Central Pennsylvania, will no longer delay in construct this much needed railroad. The proposed line being some fifty miles shorter, to the seaboard cities, than any road we now have, it will of necessity secure such a traffic as will guarantee sure and profitable returns on every dollar of its cost. All classes in this part of the State wish it built, and it will start with the approbation of all the connecting roads, and with the good will and guaranteed traffic of the whole community.

O'BRYAN is selling furniture cheaper than the cheapest.

ACCIDENT.—On, or about the 22nd day of February last, David Delong of Marsh creek, Curtin twp., was threshing grain, when the strap broke and one end caught in the horse power, and stopped the horses: The other portion of the strap remained upon the spool of the thresher, when one of the boys—Harry Winslow, the son of Mr. Delong's daughter, put his hand, it is supposed, upon the strap at the spool, which caused it to fold and wrap around the spool, tearing the strap and throwing the boy to the floor. How this was done no one can tell for they did not see it, their attention being directed to the horse power. The boy was taken up for dead; but while being carried to the house, he drew his breath, which gave hope that he would recover. Upon examination his head was found to be cut in two places on the right side of the back part and a severe bruise on the left. The right side of the under jaw, was badly bruised, nearly broken—his teeth were knocked loose one having been picked out, his lips were skinned, his right arm cracked below the shoulder, his left thumb torn off at the first joint (which was found attached to the strap) and three fingers slightly skinned. This shock was so sudden and sore, that he has no personal knowledge of it yet, though he is able to go about again. For two days he was insensible; but at the present writing he is once more in his right mind. The lesson this local teaches is, "little boys stand back and do not meddle where you are not needed, it also teaches older persons, that they should always mind their own business.

IF you want to save money go to the store of Fryberger & Grim for your dry goods, groceries &c.

RELIGIOUS REVIVAL.—Quite an extensive revival of religion has been experienced in the Pennsylvania Agricultural college, in Centre county—the first in the history of the institution. This will be gratifying news to parents whose sons and daughters are at the college. We learn, also, that the number of students has more than doubled within the past ten months, and that there has been a great improvement in all the departments since the admission of ladies. Rev. James Calder, the President, is succeeding admirably in making the college a popular institution.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The above paragraph as will be seen we copy from the Telegraph. We never heard of the great revival until we saw it in that paper. It is good news, however, and we are glad to hear it for we think no place in this county needed a revival more than did the inmates of the Agricultural College. Why could not the Professors, or some of the students report to the REPUBLICAN the items of interest, daily occurring in and around the College. We notice that when the Trustees, or Professors want advertising done for nothing they are sure to find their way to the office of the REPUBLICAN.

SHORTEST ROUTE.

Messrs. R. H. Duncan, James M. Brown and others:

GENTLEMEN:—The experimental surveys to establish a route from Penns Creek to a point in the P. R. R., where ordered with a view of ascertaining the practicability of saving distance, between Bellefonte and the P. R. R., at Lewistown. The route which I shall proceed to discribe, has been known as the Havice Valley route.

It commences at Station 1659, of the "L. C. & S. C. R. R." at the mouth of "Rappid Run," on the South side of Penns Creek, near where the Tunnel passes through "Paddy's Mountain," and pursues the western side of the mountain to "Prices Summit," and from thence to the head of Havice Valley, which it follows in a South-westerly direction to the valley of the Kishacoquillas. Thence the line follows the valley via "Shaws, Benedict's Mills to Siglerville," ¼ of a mile to the right of Locks mills to Sterrets, and thence to Nagineys Station, on the M. & C. Co. R. R., a distance of 13 miles. The location of this line from the Summit, would follow the South side of the Mountain, along the bench to a point where the Turnpike crosses the Mountain to Poe creek. Thence to the left where it would follow the Ravine, through M Clinticks farm, along the high land to Siglerville. This is the route that seemed most preferable to a majority of the inhabitants of this valley. A route that would open up Havice, New Lancaster, and the valleys laying East of Siglerville, a portion of country, which is well settled, and which would afford a large amount of trade.

This route is generally looked upon by the inhabitants, as the most favorable one for a R. R. It would answer all purposes for a local route, and would offer a very direct communication between these valleys. But it became apparant, that any attempt to descend from the mountain at M Clinticks along the ridge, towards Siglerville, would prove a failure. If the valley could be gained, a good line might then be located along it to Nagineys Station.

This, however, could only be effected by an increase of grades, a liberty, which I was not allowed. Having ascertained that the valley at Siglerville, could not be reached with a favorable grade, or such a one as would be adopted by the company. Our attention was directed to the only expedient which remained viz: 1st, To continue the line from the Poe Creek pike, along the bench at base of mountain to Whites farm, thence to the left through Milroy to the Depot of the M. & C. Co. R. R. But this would require a grade, of at least 120 feet per mile, from Whites to the Depot, and it was therefore abandoned. 2nd, To run a straight line from the pike to Nagineys Station, over the high land, or deviding ground that lays between the valleys—at Milroy and Siglerville; thence along the mountain on the left side of the stream and connect with the M. & C. C. R. R., at or near Lewistown. This route can be made with a grade of 80 feet per mile, and is the route I would respectfully recommend.

The route Westward presents nothing of note, until you strike Poe creek, then the line will have to follow up the valley for a short distance to a favorable crossing, and return to the mouth of the stream, in the same manner that the Tyrone and Clearfield R. R., crosses Mount Pleasant Run, at Emighs Gap. It is proposed by some of the inhabitants of the valley to make another survey as soon as the weather will permit.

They propose to follow the line on the North side of the Summit to the Forks, 1½ miles from Penns Creek cross the Ravine, and follow the left fork to a Summit on the White Mountain; thence around the head of Havice valley through the Gap at Havice Saw Mill, along the mountain on South side of valley reaching Siglerville. Of this route I can say nothing, as I have never examined it.

These surveys were made during the coldest weather of the past winter, and gave no time for a thorough reconnoissance of the route. Could these Surveys be revised during the early part of the Summer they could be greatly improved and I have no doubt, would prove more satisfactory to all concerned.

In conslusion, I must return the thanks of the corps, for the many acts of kindness extended to them by the inhabitants of the valleys.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. P. MACMANUS.
Engineer.

BELLEFONTE, PA., March 18, 1872.

NOTICE.—Notice is hereby given that Col R. B. Beath, who was elected last fall to the office of Surveyor General of the State, will be in town on Wednesday evening next the 27th inst. to organize here a "Post" of the "Grand Army of the Republic." This is a soldiers organization. It is not political in its character. All Soldiers having an honorable discharge can become members. Soldiers make it a point to be in town next Wednesday evening. If 300 should put in an appearance so much the better. By permission the meeting will be held in the room of the O. U. A. M. in Bush's Arcade. Come one and all.

O'BRYANS furniture store will be found in the room occupied by Thos Linn.

CONFIDENCE GAME AGAIN.—We find the following account, of how a Centre county man was "taken in and done for" in the Phila, Age of the 15th inst.:

Comment on the following facts is needless: On Tuesday last, Mr. Andrew Walker arrived at the Eagle Hotel, and yesterday morning went out to seek an insurance office, of which he had the address card, but being a stranger in the city, asked at an apple stand, Sixth and Arch, for information. A well-dressed man stepped up, looked at the card, and volunteered his services. On learning that the stranger came from Bellefonte, he said, "You know my friend, Mr. Green, druggist, there; I have just bought an interest in his store." Of course the Bellefonte man did know Mr Green, and was prepared to be friendly. "Well here," said swindler No. 1, "if I fetch my valise from the hotel, and I'll go with you. Before 1 & swindler No. 2 came on the scene, and rudely demanded payment of a bill from his "pal," who expressed his willingness to pay, but had only a $1 000 check, which he produced, and further stated that he had called that day to pay the amount, but found crape on the door. Of course, the creditor was exigent for his stamps, and as usual, an application to Mr. Walker extracted from the victim of an exploded swindle $7; all he had about him the additional $6 was found in a corner pocket by the debtor, and No. 2 went off with the bogus payment. Then the victim was taken about by a circuitous route to "the Bank," where the $1 000 draft was to be crashed, and waited at the door a long time for the return of his quondam acquaintance, till getting tired he went into the establishment and then found that the "bank" in question was the Continental Hotel, and that the swindler had passed through it and escaped.

The men were described as being about fifty years of age, and well dressed, one wearing spectacles and gold watch and chain. Mr. Walker says he thinks there must be some very dishonest people in Philadelphia, and he is doubtless correct, but it seems that knaves can also find their antitypes here. Nuff ced.

STYLE.—We are authorized to say that John Powers is the only shoemaker that strictly follows the style. He has just recieved a large lot of the most fashionable lasts, and is now prepared to furnish his customers with the latest style of boots—the latest style of button Gaiters, &c., &c. He continues to sell Boots and Shoes, 40 per cent. lower than they can be purchased elsewhere. He says he will make his words good.

NEW GOODS.—Fryberger & Grim have just received a large and splendid assortment of spring Goods.

DIED.

At Gallipolis, Ohio, Feb. 10th 1872, John Laurimore aged 80 years.

GARVEY, THE PLASTERER.

[From the N. Y. Observer.]

If Daniel had come to judgement, if one had risen from the dead and stepped into the court room, a greater sensation could scarcely have been created than A. J. Garvey made when his name was called. The Mayor of the city of New York is on trial for misdemeanor, in not doing his duty in guarding the funds of the city. Garvey is one of the men who, like Keyser and Woodward and Tweed and Connolly, are charged with getting these funds through the criminal negligence of the Mayor. Garvey had fled beyond the sea. The Mayor and his counsel had no fear of the great plasterer ever coming back to tell how he got his heaps of gold. They thought he was spending it in riotous living in a far country.

Suddenly Andrew J Garvey is called. And the man, or his ghost,—for it is only the shadow of him that is left,—stalks in. He takes the stand. The house is silent as the tomb. Lawyers whisper. The Mayor, for the first time in his life, had no joke ready. It was a little too solemn for that. Garvey was asked to indentify one of his little bills for about half a million, and to tell how he made it up.

A. I had to furnish all the plaster on the court house from May, 1869, up to the present time; it was necessary for me to have for finishing all the plastering $110,900: that is for work then due and in progress, covering from the first of May and June, July and August, 1870; on county buildings I required $78,760; on armories and drill-rooms, $75,000; that is the money I required to pay me for material, labor, and my profits besides. Besides there was due me by outside parties $126,000; that I was expected to cover up in my bills, and $50,000 cash for Mr Tweed at the legislature. all the bills I received had about this proportion of increase.

Q. You gave a portion of the items forming the foundation of this bill as part of other claims presented. Please state the others.

A. Fifty thousand dollars in cash, said to be for the legislature, taken to Mr. William M Tweed, at Albany, by my brother. Sixty thousand dollars for working expenses for W. M. Tweed, in 1869 and 1870, at Greenwich, Conn., and for work on a house at Cocoob, done by his order for a friend. About $13,000 for work done for Mr E. A. Woodward, at Greenwich Conn., and $3,000 for plastering a house in Fifty-fifth street for Mr. Walter Roche. I got 35 per cent of the bill.

And that tells the whole story of how the money went.

IT is a little curious that a worn out sinner is generally found to make the best declaimer against sin. Invective becomes natural.

England is very much exercised over the question of enfranchising women. She had better show some practical concern in improving the social condition of the women who work in her factories and mills, and the men who delve in her mines.

The Indianapolis Evening Journal makes allusion to a Missouri editor as "a diabolical slayer of steamboat clerks, a hump backed, hollow-eyed, hammer-headed hog, and a miserable, mangy, bench-legged coyote." For family reading there is nothing like a lively evening newspaper.

A Poughkeepsie parent lately induced a croupy youngster to make quite a hearty meal of buckwheat cakes and "maple-sugar," but the latter proved to be nice syrup of squills. The boy said he thought something ailed the molasses the very minute his father told him to eat all he wanted to.

The following is a verbatim copy of a letter recently received by a schoolmaster in Indiana from a householder in his locality: "Cur, as you are a man of no legs, I wish to intur my sun in your skull." The obscurity and seeming offensiveness disappear on translation. What was intended to be written was: "Sir, as you are a man of knowledge, I wish to enter my son in your school."

The family of the late Rev. Dr. Breckinridge are desirous of collecting as soon as possible the material for a biography. Those persons who have in their possession letters from him which they are willing to place in the hands of his family will confer a favor by forwarding them to Dr. Wm. S Breckinridge, Pleasant Hill, Mo., or to Col. Wm. C. P. Breckinridge, Lexington, Ky.

The Missouri State Senate has passed a resolution that it is alike unconstitutional and inexpedient to increase the present debt by loaning the credit of the State to any railway or other corporation. This defeats what is known as the $18,000,000 scheme, which provides for giving all new railroads $10,000 per mile for broad gauge, and $5,000 for narrow gauge.

There are yet unselfish and self-sacrificing men to be found. The latest case of this character is related by the Quincy, Ill., Herald, where the Rev. Sydney Corbett, a leading divine of that city, and rector of St. John's Episcopal Church) the other "Sunday gracefully asked his congregation to reduce his salary $1,000, as he felt able to reciprocate their affection for himself and devotion to the church by making some sacrifices in their behalf."

"HOW TO GO WEST."—Forty years ago, Illinois was as far West as most people wished to go, and journeys were made in the legendary "Prairie Schooner," but in these days of Progress and Improvement, the word West has come to mean Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, California and the Territories, and the Traveler reaches almost any point therein by a splendid Line of Railroad.

This Line of Railroad is the Burlington Route, which starts from Chicago over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R. R., from Indianapolis over the Indianapolis, Bloomington & Wester Short Line, and from Logansport, over the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw R. R., and running through BURLINGTON, reaches Omaha, Lincoln, Nebraska City, St, Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth and Kansas City, connecting with the Union Pacific, Kansas, Pacific and other Railroads running from those cities.

Always go "By way of Burlington," and you will be sure to be right.

The Burlington Route has admirably answered the question, "How to go West?" by the publication of a truthful and interesting document, filled with facts in regard to Time, Connections, Accommodations, rates of Fare and other interesting items, and illustrated by a large map, truthfully showing the whole West, which they distribute free of charge. Copies, and additional information, can be obtained by addressing, General Passenger Agent, B. & M. R. R., Burlington, Iowa. 4-3-3m.

To the Citizens of Centre County and Elsewhere.

Your attention is particularly requested to the following certificate referring to those old established remedies, "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS," and "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC," from that well known citizen,

IRA C. MITCHELL, ESQ.:

"BELLEFONTE, PA., Oct 27, 187

Sir:—I have just had the pleasure of meeting your Agent, the first representative of "Hoofland's German Bitters" and "Hoofland's German Tonic," it has ever been my good fortune to meet. For many year I have been purchasing and using them to the great comfort of myself, family and friends, having commenced their use on the recommendations of the Supreme Court Judges of this State. It affords me pleasure to have the opportunity to voluntarily recommend the same to all of my friends and acquaintances who may be suffering from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, billiousness or affections of the Liver, of a ny kind.

Very Respectfully,
IRA C. MITHELL."

These medicines are and have been well known to the community for the last twenty-five years, as genuine, reliable and deserving remedies for the diseases mentioned in the above certificate. Those afflicted should not fail to use them. Sold by all Druggists. C. M. EVANS, Proprietor, 631, Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 3-56-1y

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A CARD.—We take this method of saying that there is no truth in the reports that have been circulated, "that we intend quitting the coal business as soon as our present supply is sold out." On the contrary we have on hands now and intend to keep on hand a well selected stock of the best Anthracite coal in the market.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES: if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR. WALKER'S VEGETABLE VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. 10-4t
